UNITED STATES TRADEMARK CENTER POLICIES

Upon receipt of payment and completion of the form, the United States Trademark Center will use its proprietary software technology and customized review process to assist its subscribers in searching for marks with specific characteristics in common with those of a subscriber's mark. If a search performed by the United States Trademark Center does disclose a word mark with specific characteristics in common with a subscriber's word mark, we will proceed to notify the subscriber with either email reports or by mail using the provided address information in Section A of the form. Once this trademark information is reported to the subscriber, it is then up to the subscriber to obtain adequate legal advice and counsel to determine if the mark published in the Official Gazette does in fact conflict with the subscriber's own mark. The United States Trademark Center is only an information tool; you decide whether you can use the information provided, whether a pending registration threatens your trademark rights, or whether to file an Opposition. This trademark monitoring subscription will commence upon receipt of payment and will terminate one year thereafter, whereby the subscribing party will be able to renew its subscription for an additional annual term. By subscribing to our trademark monitoring and notification service, you agree that the United States Trademark Center may change its proprietary software technology and algorithms at any time without liability and without notifying the subscriber of these changes. Be aware that we will not accept requests to alter or modify our monitoring search methods, techniques and custom software application. Also, please note that our service is for word marks only and does not include monitoring of logo or image marks. Under no circumstances shall United States Trademark Center or its parent company be held liable for trademarks which can be found similar to your own trademark. The degree of similarity between the subscriber's trademark and any mark(s) uncovered and reported to a subscriber necessarily varies and cannot be quantified. The United States Trademark Center makes no implied or express warranty that it will uncover any marks "confusingly similar" to subscriber's marks. The United States Trademark Center does not guarantee the timeliness, accuracy, adequacy or completeness of any information provided by the USPTO. Under no circumstances shall United States Trademark Center be responsible for any information omitted from or contained in the trademark monitoring results. United States Trademark Center reserves the right to discontinue or withhold monitoring services to any entity for any reason whatsoever. Our liability is strictly limited to the amount received by us from you to provide this service. By providing your email address in Section A of this form, you affirmatively consent to receive all USTC correspondence in electronic format, and acknowledge that you can access and retain all correspondence with our office via email and not in paper form. We will treat any information we send to you electronically as if it were sent by United States mail.
